

Feelium

Cryptocurrency for the real world

Feelium will be a global network, based on mutual benefits for users.

Our goal is to build a platform known for simplicity, security, cost-effectiveness, speed, and a stable means of payment and exchange.

"The first generation of the digital revolution brought us the Internet of information. The second generation — powered by blockchain technology — is bringing us the Internet of value: a new platform to reshape the world of business and transform the old order of human affairs for the better." — Don Tapscott

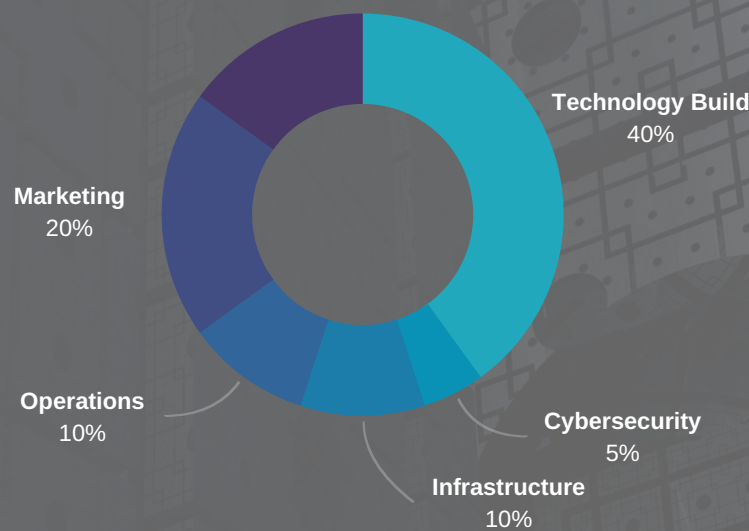

Problem

Currently, transfer of products and services requires trust between two parties. Disputes that present with such transactions are a drain on financial resources and time. Feelium restores the decision making power and expands the parameters within which contracts can function.

Solution

Feelium is a tokenized platform that will allow contractual transactions to become simpler and more secure. By implementing the use of smart contracts, as well as an optional escrow account, the Feelium platform allows for secure and fast transactions because of its' centralized blockchain platform in lieu of a decentralized platform. Feelium also allows private key retrieval. Feelium aims to be a one-stop trading platform that can be used by anyone, in B2B and B2C scenarios.
